ACT OF CONSECRATION OF THE HUMAN RACE TO THE SACRED HEART OF JESUS

To be recited publicly at each Mass for Feast of Christ the King. A plenary indulgence is granted under the usual conditions.

Most sweet Jesus, Redeemer of the human race, look down upon us humbly prostrate before Thy altar.

We are Thine, and Thine we wish to be; but to be more surely united with Thee, behold each one of us freely consecrates himself today to Thy Most Sacred Heart.

Many indeed have never known Thee; many, too, despising Thy precepts, have rejected Thee.

Have mercy on them all, most merciful Jesus, and draw them to Thy Sacred Heart.

Be Thou King, O Lord, not only of the faithful who have never forsaken Thee, but also of the prodigal children who have abandoned Thee; grant that they may quickly return to their Father's house, lest they die of wretchedness and hunger.

Be Thou King of those who are deceived by erroneous opinions, or whom discord keeps aloof, and call them back to the harbor of truth and unity of faith, so that soon there may be but one flock and one Shepherd.

Grant, O Lord, to Thy Church assurance of freedom and immunity from harm; give peace and order to all nations and make the earth resound from pole to pole with one cry: Praise to the Divine Heart that wrought our salvation; to it be glory and honour forever. Amen.

PLENARY INDULGENCE FOR THE HOLY SOULS IN PURGATORY: Granted under usual conditions (i.e. confession within eight days of All Souls, pray for the Pope's intentions and receive Holy Communion) to those that recite an Our Father and the Creed while visiting a church on All Souls Day, November 2nd.

ST. ANNE'S MUSIC

The Sung Mass: The Church's Norm

In the Roman Rite, the sung Mass is not an embellishment of the Low Mass. It is the Mass in its proper form. Fr Adrian Fortescue, whose ceremonial manual remains one of the key liturgical reference texts over a century after it was first published, put it without qualification: High Mass "is the norm." Low Mass, he explained, is a shortened and simplified form of the same thing. The structure of the rite bears this out. The orations, the Preface, the Proper chants, the responses and the Ordinary are each written to be sung, and each belongs to someone: the priest, the choir or the people.

In the early Church, the Eucharist was a public act of the whole community, offered with song. The Low Mass appeared much later, chiefly in the monasteries of the early Middle Ages, as more monks were ordained and private Masses multiplied for particular intentions. Fr Josef Jungmann SJ, the great historian of the Roman Mass, traced how this read Mass gradually grew up alongside the sung liturgy. Even so, he concluded, the High Mass continued to set the norm.

Why, then, did the Low Mass come to dominate? History offers several reasons. In penal Ireland, Mass was often offered in secret, quickly and quietly, at a Mass rock or in a cottage, with no place for choirs or ceremonial. The Irish priests and people who built the Church in Australia brought that culture with them. Later, growing parishes needed many Masses each Sunday, trained singers were few, and a short-said Mass suited busy congregations. What began as necessity ossified into custom, until many Catholics came to regard the sung Mass as an occasional luxury rather than the ordinary worship of the Church.

Dom Prosper Guéranger, the restorer of Solesmes, warned that the prayer of the Church loses its power unless the faithful take a real share in it. The restoration of the sung Mass cannot, therefore, be left to the choir alone. A schola can sing the Propers, but the responses and the Ordinary belong to all of us. If the sung Mass is to be the norm at St Anne's in practice as well as in principle, everyone must learn these chants.

That is the purpose of the sections marked in bold in our booklets. After some weeks of singing Mass IV and Credo I, these chants are now our own. The two solemn feasts before us, Christ the King and All Saints, are the perfect occasion to sing them in full voice, and to give the King of Heaven and all His saints the song that is their due.
